By glancing over the Ledger and observing if the mark of comparison be affixed to each entry; if not, turn to the entry in the Journal which had not been marked, and observe if it be right. What is the best plan to rectify omissions? Ans. By inserting the entry omitted under the last article, when you discover the omission, and making a cross thus-j-against it on the margin, and another at the place where it should have been. If you have written a line entirely wrong, or in a wrong place, how do you proceed? Ans. Write the word error at the end, prefix a cross, and omit or cancel the sum. How should errors be cancelled? Ans. By drawing a line lightly through them, so that the old writing may still be legible; by which, it will be evident that the book has not been vitiated for a fraudulent purpose; and the same method should be followed in correcting errors in the Journal. IV. BALANCING THE LEDGER. What is meant by Balancing? Ans. It is the equilibrating of, or making equal, all the accounts. What is the design of balancing the books? Ans. To collect the various branches of business diffused through the Ledger, into a concise abstract of the debts owing to and by you; the property you have on...
